60 Seats Chiefly to Communists

By Associated Press
Berlin.—The promised big coalition of the moderates, comprising the Socialists, Clerical, Democratic and People's parties, is regarded as assured on the basis of partial returns from Sunday's parliamentary election.

Thus the people apparently have placed their seal of approval on the Dawes reparations report, as the leaders of the moderates, including Foreign Minister Stresemann, based their campaign on the adoption and execution of the report as a sure cure for the country's ailments.

While the counting of ballots is necessarily slow, due to the large number of party tickets in the field, indications are that the coalition will have sufficient seats in the Reichstag to force through the enabling legislation required by the Dawes report with little help from the independent factions.

London.—An Agency Dispatch from Berlin gives the distribution of the seats in the Reichstag as the result of Sunday's election on the basis of available returns as follows:

Social Democrats and Independents 54.
German National People's party 76.
Communists 51.
Central party 56.
German People's party 435.
Peasants and National Socialists 30.
Democrats 23.
Bavarian People's party 16.
Bavarian Peasants' union 16.
Bavarian Peasants' union 2.
National Liberals 2.
Hanoverians 5.

RADICALS GAIN SLIGHTLY.
The Nationalists and Communists made some gains, but the vote polled by General Ludendorff's ultra Nationalists did not come up to expectations, and the result indicates decisive failure of the reactionary and radical campaigns. The balloting was heavy and it is probable that at least 15 new deputies will be added to the Reichstag, increasing the membership to 475. Returns from 22 of the 73 electoral districts showed election of 244 candidates including 58 Socialists, 38 Democrats, 12 Nationalists, 25 German People's party, 25 Nationalists and 13 Bavarian People's party. The remainder were distributed among the various other parties.

About 75 per cent of the electoral vote throughout the Reich.

Among the notables elected are Count von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States, General Ludendorff, head of the extreme Nationalists, Chancellor Marx, former Chancellor Wirth, the young Prince von Bismarck, grandson of the "Iron Chancellor" and Admiral von Tirpitz, the minister of the navy during the World war.

Available results are sufficient to show roughly how the new Reichstag will be constituted. The Socialists lost between 50 and 60 seats, chiefly to the Communists.

BLOODSTAINED CAR

Slaying

Huron.—An abandoned automobile with bloodstains gave Iron-co officials the clew that led to search for Andrew Gudieski, 29, alias Andy Anderson, electrician by trade and bartender at the New Central saloon, for the murder of Andrew Sigler. Gudieski is still at large.

Sigler's eight-year-old son told how Sigler went out "with Andy" and soon after the threads of the evidence were woven together to point conclusively to Gudieski as the murderer. Sometime the man is being sought in three different states.

Gudieski was killed until Saturday morning—the murder was committed some time Thursday night—when he went to Ironwood, Mich., across the state line, where he obtained another automobile, paying $200 down and promising $200 additional Saturday night. He failed to keep the promise. His officers believe a third party is involved in the killing.

STOCK DIVISIONDaughter Committee Investigates
Groomes and Ullrich Deals

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Legal steps by which the Groomes and Ullrich Co., a Chicago liquor house, distributed 5,000 cases of high grade intoxicants among its stockholders, and escaped penalties under the Volstead act, were described Monday in the senate Daughters investigation.

Charles A. Williams, attorney for the concern, explained the plan with which the corporation was dissolved and its assets of whisky, wines and cordials turned over to 130 Chicago citizens who bought out the eight or ten original stockholders.

Though the prohibition enforcement unit has instituted prosecution against officials who issued the permits, Williams insisted that the transaction was entirely legal.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, committee prosecutor, tried to gain to get the witness to admit that the 130 "knew they bought stock but were going to get whisky."

The government seized about 1,700 or 1,800 cases of the whisky during the distribution, Williams said, but the balance got to stockholders. Legislation in the case still is in progress.

Senator Wheeler took the witness to identify a Dr. Isham, one of those who got the stock, as a "brother-in-law of the Federal Judge Carpenter," and another as "Mr. Birmingham," as "a son in law or brother-in-law of Judge Carpenter."

"Why bring in Judge Carpenter?" asked Paul Howard, attorney for H. M. Daugherty.

"I'll show you after awhile," Senator Wheeler retorted.

Williams identified himself as a Republican ward leader in Chicago and one of those indicted in the liquor distribution.

Birmingham and Isham were not identified. The only people who were prosecuted, Williams said, were those who changed their political allegiance from Brundage—the state attorney general.

MADISON MEDICS SET UP UNIQUE RECORDS

By Associated Press
Madison.—What is declared by authorities to be a new record in history of medical science was established here Monday when for the fourth time a successful caesarian was performed on Mrs. W. F. Lorenz, wife of Dr. W. F. Lorenz, director of the state soldiers' hospital and chairman of the state board of control. Mrs. Lorenz gave birth to a baby boy. The operation was performed at St. Mary's hospital by Doctors Joseph and James Dean.

UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS
PROBE STUDENT'S DEATH

Madison.—University of Wisconsin officials are investigating the death here Sunday of Stanley W. Rosenthal, Chicago, freshman student at the university. Rosenthal was found dead in bed. An inquiry into reports of liquor parties among students Saturday night has been instituted. Physicians announced Rosenthal died of natural causes.

Dozens of Other Minor Questions
Will Come Up for Action in Next Six Weeks in Addition to Main Bills.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge's opportunities for leadership, for assertiveness, and for curbing the multifarious tendencies of congress in the present session are coming in a blizzard of bills in the next six weeks.

Not since the day he succeeded the late President Harding in office has there developed such an occasion for decision on policy. The course of the whole Coolidge administration, its character and objectives, will be charted now and may furnish the basis for discussion in the coming presidential campaign. For Mr. Coolidge has before him these essential things to decide:

First, whether or not to sign the soldier insurance bill.

Second, whether to use his influence in the conferences between the two houses to prevent the publication of income tax returns and the removal of other features of the bill which are contributing to business uncertainty.

Third, whether he will approve the Bureau bill passed by both houses providing for increased pensions for Civil war and Spanish American war veterans.

MUST RELIEVE FARMERS
Fourth, whether he will sign the McNary-Haugen bill providing for the creation of an agricultural export corporation and machinery whereby the price of wheat and other products shall be arbitrarily raised to come up to a fixed ratio with other commodities.

Fifth, whether he will sign the immigration bill with clauses in it giving direct offense to Japan and impairing the good relations which have existed with that country especially since the armament conference and the recent earthquake.

There are dozens of other bills involving important principles but the foregoing constitute the outstanding measures. Mr. Coolidge said at the outset of his administration that he did not care to indicate in advance of action by congress what his policy toward specific proposals would be. As a consequence congress has gone ahead in many instances and legislation without regard to possible action by the president. Now Mr. Coolidge must face the problem of rejecting bills, some of which might have been slipped in the bud if he had indicated his firm intention to disapprove them.

LABOR PRESS DENIES
ANGLO-RUSSIAN BREAK

By Associated Press
London.—The Daily Herald, Labor organ, Monday terms as "pernicious nonsense" the declaration at Lancaster on Saturday by J. J. O'Neill, National Liberal, that the Anglo-Russian conference had reached a dead lock on the question of the recognition of debts.

The newspaper declares that on the contrary, the negotiations have progressed with unexpected smoothness and charges Mr. O'Neill with taking part in a campaign deliberately started to wreck the conference.

Goodland Calls On People
To Clean Up Their Premises

Today was the opening day of the annual spring cleanup campaign in Appleton, and Mayor John Goodland, Jr., in a proclamation is calling upon all residents to cooperate in keeping the city clean and beautiful.

Residents are asked to clean up their yards and buildings and remove all rubbish. The refuse is to be deposited in receptacles and placed at the street curbing from which it will be removed free of charge by the city wagons beginning May 12.

Two Weeks

By Associated Press
While Plains, N. Y.—Counsel for Clarence O. Baring who is in the county jail charged with having attempted to murder his wife with poison and disease germs announced Monday that a move would be made Tuesday to obtain from County Judge Blakely a copy of the grand jury minutes with a view to seeking dismissal of the indictment.

Baring's attorney said he also would ask that the trial, scheduled for May 12, be adjourned until two weeks from that date, as he had not completed preparations of his client's defense.

Although authorities still were without word from Miss Mildred Beam, the former Elizabeth, N. J., high school gymnastics teacher whom they have sought to question as a friend of Baring, they said the prosecution was sufficiently complete and suspended search for additional evidence.

PARENT-TEACHERS
MEET IN ST. PAUL

By Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn.—Problems of the school, the home and the community will be analyzed at the twenty-eighth convention of the National Congress of the Parent Teachers Association which opened here Monday. Several cooperating associations including the International Kindergarten union and the National Conference on Home Education will meet in Minneapolis this week, and a joint session with the parent teacher delegates will be held Wednesday.

Officials of the parent teacher conventions that helped swell their attendance and reservations indicate 500 delegates will participate in the session before the end of the five-day meeting.

OCONTO MAN MENTIONED IN LUMBER BARON'S WILL

Chicago.—Isabelle H. Finnie of Detroit and William Arthur Holt, of Oconto are beneficiaries under the million dollar will of George Hubbard Holt, lumberman, filed for probate Monday. Miss Finnie and Mr. Holt are provided for under the division of the residue of the states, after one-third is bestowed on Ellen Holt of Lake Forest, Ill.

Tokio.—A delegation representing the Chinese Association of Tokio, called on Foreign Minister Matsui Monday and presented a memorial protesting against Japanese exclusion of Chinese, declaring the Chinese expect the same consideration from Japan that Japan is now seeking from the United States.

The delegation emphasized that although all of the colored races are interested in the legislation to bar Asiatics from America, it would be impossible for them to stand together while Japan maintained its present restrictions on Chinese immigration.

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS FIGHT
RAIL LABOR BOARDParties Unite in House to Hasten Action on Barkley Measure

Washington, D. C.—Democrats and Republican insurgents in the house were united again Monday in an effort to hasten action on the Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board and set up in its place four wage adjustment boards. The immediate object of the coalition move was the discharge of the commerce committee from consideration of the measure putting the new house rule designed to facilitate such action to its first test. The lineup on the discharge proposal, which leaders of both sides conceded in advance would be closely matched, was also offered the first tests of strength at this session of the house on railroad legislation.

Representative Barkley of Kentucky, ranking Democrat of the commerce committee and sponsor of the bill, and other proponents have charged that an effort was being made to "kill" it in committee through inaction and working under the new rule making a motion for discharge of a committee in order, upon petition of 150 members of the house. They were ready to act today. Republican organization leaders, counting on support from some Democrats, have lined up their forces meanwhile, for a final fight against the measure.

LAND FRAUD BOARD IS READY FOR TRIP

Washington, D. C.—The Senate committee investigating charges of land frauds in the Rio Grande valley of Texas entered Monday on the last stages of its work in Washington preparatory to leaving for the southwest. Having delivered into records of the department of justice and the postoffice department, the prosecution turned Monday to the department of agriculture for further information.

The committee was ready to call former Postmaster General Hays and John H. Edwards, now solicitor general of the interior department, who was the postoffice department solicitor at the time the alleged land frauds were being investigated by the inspection division, and then proceed with plans to leave for the valley, unless Senator Heflin is successful in his fight to rank Kansas City the first stop.

CUBAN REBELS ARE ROUTED BY TROOPS

New York.—Cuban rebels have been routed by governmental troops in all sections of the island except the Cienfuegos district, according to a telegram received Monday by F. Tauboda, Cuban consul general, from the Cuban embassy in Washington. President Zayas has gone to Cienfuegos, the message added.

The consulate is in receipt of orders from the war department at Washington releasing army supplies for use by the Cuban regular army. The material will be shipped Saturday.

ENGINEER SUPPORTS
FORD'S POWER OFFER

Washington, D. C.—Arguments favoring acceptance of Henry Ford's bid for Muscle Shoals were made Monday by W. G. Waldo, engineer employed by the Tennessee River improvement association, before the senate agriculture committee.

Waldo denied there was a shortage of water power for industrial purposes in the southeast and contended that Muscle Shoals should be used primarily for fertilizer manufacture and not power distribution.

OF TAX FIGHTFactions Seek Support of G. O.
P. Insurgents Who Hold Balance

Washington, D. C.—The lines in the income tax reduction fight became more clearly defined in the senate Monday as the second day of debate on the provision in the revenue bill got under way with leaders of both parties still negotiating for support of Republican insurgents who hold the balance of power.

Some of the insurgents have declared against any reduction in the present maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent. As a result, Democrats have anticipated receiving their support for the Simmons plan which calls for a maximum surtax of 40 per cent as against 25 per cent recommended by Secretary Mellon and approved by finance committee Republicans.

With the issue developing to a straight party proposition, however, Republican organization leaders have expressed hope of working out an adopted by the house. This placed the maximum surtax at 37½ per cent, and was supported by Republican insurgents of that chamber when the normal rates were cut below those provided in the Mellon plan. Some of this bargaining has been made on the basis of Republican organization support for the McNary-Haugen farm bill in return for insurgent and farm bloc votes for a Republican income tax schedule.

Leaders of both parties are striving to dispose of the entire measure this week, but the probable loss of a full day Tuesday in consideration of resolutions dealing with the internal revenue bureau investigation have somewhat dampened their hopes.

Statements

Washington, D. C.—Deficiencies in the navy disclosed in the recent report of Admiral Count, commanding chief of the battle fleet, were brought to the attention of the house Monday in a resolution prepared by Representative Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts. Each resolution calls on the navy department for information as to the strength of the navy to determine among other things, the extent to which the 5-5-5 rule is being maintained. The Rogers measure does not go into detail, being a terse resolution of inquiry but, the Britten proposal asks for a report covering 27 special points, including data on the strength of the British and Japanese navies.

ALLEGED ROBBER
HELD IN BARABOO

Baraboo.—Arrangement on a charge of bank robbery of Orrin Pixley, captured by a posse in the woods near North Freedom, following the daylight robbery of the Bank of North Freedom Saturday, was scheduled to take place here Monday.

Pixley was brought here and lodged in the county jail after officers of the bank were reported to have identified him as the man who entered the institution and after holding up two employees, escaped with currency. About $1,000 found on Pixley after his capture was returned to the bank, county officials here say.

Ship Reported Flying Over Chignik
Lake Several Hours
After StartNATIVES TAKE UP SEARCH*Three Remaining Ships Plan to Take Off on Longest Leg of Journey

By Associated Press
False Pass, Alaska.—Major Frederick L. Martin, missing American flight commander, was seen 100 miles west of Chignik, Alaska, seven hours after he took the air at that place Wednesday, according to a report received here Sunday midnight.

The last place that Major Martin's plane was previously known to have been seen after it left Chignik was over Chignik lake, 20 miles north of Chignik.

Cordova, Alaska.—A trapper living on an island in the middle of Lake Chignik saw an airplane believed to be that of Major Martin, missing commander of the American world flight squadron, passing over the lake at a height of about 400 feet, traveling toward Bering sea last week, according to wireless advice received here from the coast guard cutter Algonquin at Chignik.

Two natives brought the information from the trapper, R. W. Sachsenroder, in response to a query from Superintendent C. W. Halverson of the Alaska Packers' association cannery at Chignik lagoon.

"I saw a plane about noon flying over my home heading for Bering sea," the message read. "I judge it was about 400 feet in the air. I believe the plane saw me."

SECOND PARTY JOINS SEARCH
A second party of two natives left Chignik for Bering sea on Saturday noon, and have not been heard from, the message also states. The natives took with them a biplane, a small skid boat, and a dog sled. They planned to use the dogs from Chignik lagoon to Chignik lake, and on to Black lake, on account of the ice and then to use the biplane across Black lake and three small lakes in divide portage, then downstream to Umanashik and on to Seal island across the Alaska peninsula from here.

The Algonquin will remain at Chignik until Wednesday night, awaiting the return of the natives from Chignik.

Lake Chignik is about 60 miles all most directly west of Chignik and the territory over which the natives will search is on the Alaskan peninsula northwest of Chignik and in the direction in which the Sachsenroder's report indicates the plane he saw was traveling.

In the meantime the planes Chica-cago, New Orleans and Boston at Sitka were preparing to hop off Monday for Chicago, off Attu island, a distance of 530 miles. Upon reaching Attu island, final preparations will be made for the longest flight of the entire 27,000 miles, a jump of 518 miles to Shamushu island in the Kurile group, near Japan.

GIDEONS ELECT
STATE OFFICERS

By Associated Press
Green Bay.—The Wisconsin Society of Gideons, at the close of a two-day convention here adopted a resolution Sunday night declaring for strict conformity to the fundamentalist principles of religion and reaffirmed their faith in the Holy Bible in its original text.

Delegates to the national convention at Madison in July were elected as follows: G. A. Briggs, Baraboo; P. K. Schaefer, Milwaukee; C. W. Brown, Milwaukee; and L. A. Miller, of Marshfield.

Late Saturday the following officers of the state organization were elected: C. W. Brown, Milwaukee, president; L. A. Miller, Marshfield, secretary; John H. Francis, West Allis, treasurer; P. A. Briggs, Baraboo, chaplain; and P. K. Schaefer, Milwaukee, bible secretary.

BUILD SOCIAL ROOMS IN CHURCH BASEMENT

Improvements that will cost about $5,000 are being made in the basement of Memorial Presbyterian church. Heretofore only one small room was available in the basement, but under plans now being carried out, the cellar under the entire building will be excavated and provisions are to be made for a kitchen, dining room and social rooms. Lack of space had handicapped the church in its work but plenty of room will be available when the improvements are completed.

It is expected that the new quarters will be ready for use at the opening of the fall and winter season.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS

The American Child Health Association appraises us that in seventeen of the forty-eight states no attempt whatever is made to require the registration of births of children. In fact, we believe, this conclusion understates the indifference. Except in a very few states it is doubtful whether the public birth records are reliable.

It used to be a custom, and in some families still is, to enter items of family history in the Bible. A few families keep chronicles. Baptismal lists are preserved by churches. But physicians and public departments have been and remain indifferent concerning birth registration.

The American Child Health association proposes to make special efforts to have cities, counties and states keep regular and complete birth records. Physicians will be urged to register births promptly, and city and county will be requested to enter and preserve the records.

There are many reasons why birth records are necessary. Questions of law and society are the most important. Then, also, there is the matter of family and personal interest.

THE ANTI-VOLSTEAD DRIVE

A big "wet drive" is now on in Washington. Hearings are starting in the house on several dozen bills seeking to modify and liberalize the Volstead act. Foes of that act are heading for the capital, in big delegations, from almost every part of the country, but especially from eastern states. There will be a great effort made in the next few weeks, to influence the public and influence congress.

The wets are likely to fail in spite of the fact that millions of intelligent citizens, who do not drink and have no interest in the liquor traffic, believe the Volstead act is unwise. Every intelligent man or woman knows that a beverage may contain more than one-half of one percent of alcohol without being intoxicating. Many a prohibitionist will readily admit that beer containing 2.75 per cent of alcohol might do little or no harm to the drinkers. But an honest friend of the eighteenth amendment will point out certain pertinent facts such as these:

That the Volstead act was a protest, perhaps over-drastring but none the less natural, against a liquor traffic which had become a center and source of intolerable evil, with at least the passive consent of many of the people who are now demanding "beer and light wines."

That the friends of prohibition will sternly oppose any present effort to break down the Volstead act from fear of reviving the old-fashioned saloon and its attendant evils, among which is the reprehensible activity and power of breweries in politics.

That otherwise tolerant citizens grow intolerant the moment it is suggested that the present enforcement law be modified, largely because they have been disgusted by the orgy of bootlegging encouraged by many of the "wets" now appealing to congress.

If the "wets" want a more liberal enforcement law, perhaps the best way to get it is to help enforce the present law. Also to offer some guarantee against a return of the old-time saloon and brewery politics.

THE WORLD COURT AGAIN

The senate foreign relations committee has begun hearings on the World court resolution. Thus the project that has been pigeonholed by that committee for more than a year is brought to public attention again. The public response will be awaited with much interest, and friends of the court will have their hopes revived, despite the unfavorable attitude of the committee in charge of the resolution.

It may be that the public response will sweep the committee off its feet and compel a favorable report, or if that is impossible, that the resolution at least will be forced out of the committee to meet a friendlier fate on the floor of the senate. There are indications of favorable sentiment in the house.

President Harding was enthusiastically in favor of the United States joining the court. President Coolidge favors it. The Democratic leaders favor it. It can hardly be said therefore that strictly partisan politics plays much part in the matter. Opposition is chiefly exerted by irreconcilable senators who constitute a small minority.

The public has spoken countless times through organized business, organized churches, organized labor and organized professions, especially the legal profession, and through women's organizations, urging this step as President Harding did, on the ground that it represents established American policy and would be an important step in promoting peace, without assuming any dangerous commitments. There is no argument against the court that merits the slightest consideration.

GOOD OLD DAYS

Plans are being made for a national celebration in 1932, of the two hundredth anniversary of George Washington's birth. If Washington could come to life and attend the celebration he would look about and decide he was dreaming or on some strange planet. There is not much left that he would recognize. In 1732, when he was born, the stage coach trip between New York and Boston took two weeks. In 1732 the first white inhabitants entered the valley of Virginia. In 1732 Vincennes was founded, the first European settlement in Indiana. From England 120 immigrants sailed to settle in the new district, Georgia, held "in trust for the poor."

The year 1799, when Washington died, was even duller than 1732—except for the interest of watching our republic get slowly on its feet. Slavery had become an issue, legislation for its gradual suppression being passed by New York state. Liberty was in the air. Only a year before, imprisonment for debt had been abolished as to debts owed to the government. A treaty between England and the United States had offended France. There had been no actual declaration of war, but French and American ships had conducted a small naval warfare in the waters around the West Indies. Vessels were captured and crews taken prisoner. This trouble was settled in 1799, peace coming after Napoleon offered fair terms.

The cost of running the national government in 1799 was only a trifle more than 11 million dollars. How many hours would that sum last now in congress? Washington closed his eyes forever, just as the young American republic was getting under way. The population of the whole country was less than five and a half millions. In his hours of most vivid imagination, he probably never dreamed that the republic which he fathered would ever be more powerful than one of the smaller European countries. Today that republic is more powerful and richer than the whole world was in Washington's lifetime.

GIVE THE BOY SCOUTS CREDIT

That rough, little, tough little gang of boys
That used to break windows and doors,
That caused our ears with continual noise—
It doesn't act so any more.
What's happened? That bunch used to give us a bang.We shuddered with fear at its shouts;
What's happened? Why, neighbor, the neighborhood gang
Has gone and joined up with the Scouts!Their leader, whom grown-ups regarded as a head of a mischievous crew,
Has found with the Scouts, just a peach of a chance.To do what he's wanted to do:
He's boss of his troop, and he makes them behave
Without any questions or doubts.
He's learned that he can't be bad to be brave.A lesson that's taught by the Scouts,
Oh, boys will be boys; and experience shows
That boys WILL belong to a gang.
But organized RIGHT—as the scout master knows—Their energy, vigor and tone
Will fashion a clean, snappy, likeable troop
From reckless and impish young rascals;
And that's what's been done with our neighborhood group.They've gone and joined up with the Scouts!

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

ACIDITY NOT ACIDOSIS

Probably I will rue the day I chose this subject. Let me begin, therefore, by warning people who have any acid or acidity obsessions about their food, stomach or blood that they should consult a physician about it. Let me assure all and sundry who may be so burdened that they have my sympathy, and if that is not sufficient, then they may have my advice, which is to consult a physician. There is one striking fact I have noticed in regard to people with acid obsessions, and that is they generally have as a complication a bad case of Billings trouble. That is the trouble Josh Billings found with so many people—they know so many things which ain't so. For instance, how uric acid gets into the body and what it does out; how a subject of any painful condition which passes as "rheumatism" can't eat tomatoes, grapefruit or anything like that. Billings trouble is cultivated by the propaganda. The propaganda is about 30 years ahead of the propagandist.

A lemon is just about as acid as any food can be. The acid of lemon (or of orange, or grapefruit) is citric acid. Its effect upon the degree of acidity of the gastric juice is practically imperceptible. When digested and absorbed into the blood lemon juice increases the alkalinity of the blood and that is so because the citric acid is oxidized into carbonic acid which unites with such minerals as lime, potassium, sodium and magnesium to form alkaline carbonates in the blood. When eliminated through the kidneys the citric acid of lemons or the other citrus fruits diminishes the acidity of the urine. That is so whether one consumes one lemon or a dozen at a sitting. So lemons, oranges or grapefruits or their juice or beverages made from their juices are excellent items to use to oppose acidosis.

Acidosis is not a definite disease susceptible to any particular line of treatment. It is a state which occurs in many diseases, when the normal balance of acid and alkali or base in the blood and other tissues of the body is disturbed, either by the accumulation of an excess of carbon dioxide in the blood or by a decrease of the alkali reserve. It has nothing whatever to do with conditions which the layman knows as "acidity."

The degree of acidity of the stomach contents has no bearing upon the question of acidosis, nor has the real or imagined "acidity" of foods any bearing on acidosis. But the character of the diet has a bearing, which I shall try to show. Certain foods tend to increase the acid balance and other foods tend to increase the alkali. Foods which tend to increase the alkali reserve and therefore oppose acidosis are the fruits and vegetables, the greens and relishes, the entire cereals, whole wheat flour, or bread (but no Graham flour as sold today), wheat bran, crude dark brown sugar, molasses, and particularly potatoes, tomatoes, oranges, apples, lettuce, bananas and milk. Foods which tend to increase the acid balance and favor the development of acidosis are in some cases plums, prunes and cranberries (which contain benzoic acid).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Those Dirty Elbows

What can you suggest to whiten and soften the elbows? (G. L.)

Answer.—Occasional applications of soap and water work well in some cases. But in other cases the elbows seem just as dirty in spite of this treatment, and the skin is dry and cracked. For this condition apply to the affected areas of skin oil rather than soap. I will send you a formula for an oil for the purpose by mail if you will provide an S. A. E. and repeat your request.

Wart Surgery

I have taken off several warts by applying potassium bichromate moistened with water into a paste. I have heard that it may cause blood poisoning if the parts treated become raw. (C. W. J.)

Answer.—Chemical surgery is just as risky as ordinary surgery would be in the hands of an amateur. There is no good reason why anybody without medical training should attempt to remove warts. Such amateur surgery always involves risk of septicemia (blood poisoning) for the victim. The removal of a wart is not too trifling a matter to submit to a physician.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Monday, May 8, 1899.

H. J. Slifer of Boone, Ia., spent Sunday with his family.

Arthur Jolliffe returned from a visit at Oshkosh. Mrs. Elmer Crider was the guest of Waukau friends.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGivern of Cedar Rapids, Ia., formerly of Appleton.

Mrs. George Peerenboom and children left for Chicago for a visit with relatives.

E. G. Jones returned to Alma, Mich., where he expected to remain for several weeks.

Otto Tank, 22, died Sunday at the home of his brother, Henry Tank, in the town of Ellington.

Henry Ashman, 15, fractured his leg while playing baseball at the fair grounds.

John Kraus of Chicago and Miss Mary Gransberger of Appleton were to be married at St. Joseph church the following morning.

Langstadt & Crowell was awarded the lighting contract of the new hotel at Brighton beach.

Robin Hood was presented at Green Bay Saturday evening by Appleton talent before an enthusiastic audience.

A pile of rubbish in the ravine west of Thomas Pearson's residence caught fire and was burning fiercely when the fire department arrived.

Attorney Thomas H. Ryan was in Milwaukee trying a case that involved the heirs of an estate.

Miss Amy Fish of Neenah was the guest of Appleton friends.

TEN YEARS AGO

Simon Marshall was spending a few weeks at Mount Clemens, Mich.

J. G. Hildebrand of New London was in Appleton on business.

Eugene Sherman of Manitowish was visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. F. Faulkner.

Dr. Samuel Platts returned from Cincinnati, Ohio, where he attended an educational conference.

Albert William Zuchelt, 22, died Sunday at his home, 637 Durkeest.

More than a score of Appleton skat players attended the Fox River Valley Skat association tournament at Green Bay Sunday afternoon.

Attorney O. E. Clark returned from an extended visit to Buffalo, N. Y.

---that's all there is to life

HOWDY, FOLKS! DO YOU REMEMBER WAY BACK IN FEBRUARY WHEN SOMEBODY CRAWLED OUT OF HIS HOLE AND SAID SPRING IS HERE?

Those who still think winter has gone should take a drive on some road along deep gulches and see the snow banks that are still braving the sun.

It took 12 would-be Motorists about 12 minutes to learn that the Speed ordinance they studied was a dummy ordinance.

The speed demon candidates didn't know whether it was fast dancing or fast driving they were expected to curb.

POSSIBLY THEY WERE THINKING OF STEPPING THE LIGHT FANTASTIC—ON THE ACCELERATOR.

In spite of all that the pastors did on Sunday, there were more liars on that day than on the Sunday previous. The trout season opened last week, you know.

Former Mayor Hawes says that down in California the tourist bath has become compulsory since the spread of the hoof and mouth disease. But the baths were given the autos, rather than the hoofs.

Leonard Day, the well known hiker, who was a guest of the Appleton firemen for a week, hooted it out of California in time to escape the hoof and mouth disease.

NOT THAT WE WISH ANYBODY BAD LUCK

We hope that the bill collector who has been chasing us gets the hoof disease and the fellow who has been trying to talk us to death gets the mouth disease.

It is going to cost some folks something to enjoy this summer. Do you know that there is a county law here that forbids open mufflers on country roads?

HERE IS ANOTHER WAY TO SAVE MONEY. DON'T LET YOUR 16-YEAR OLD BOY DRIVE UNLESS YOU ARE WITH HIM.

A few Appleton motorists are going to take Judge Spencer's advice not to drive while drunk because they think that the judge may not be quite so friendly as the bartender or bootlegger.

Summer is still over a month hence, but don't worry, for the hardy dandelion is already beginning to blossom. Nature knows some sympathy after all.

And besides, it looks as if there won't be enough jugs and bottles to hold the apple crop this year.

ROLLO.

Must Stop Robbing Land Of Dogwood

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Help save the wild flowers—especially the dogwood! Each spring an appeal is being made to the glibly and thoughtfulness of the public in behalf of America's vanishing and defenseless wild flowers.

For some obscure reason, there are countless Americans of both sexes who would scorn to attack the little animals of the woods and fields but who do not hesitate to wage relentless warfare on the flowers. When spring trustfully sends out the most delicate blossoms these thoughtless "nature lovers" go out to pluck tear, and cast aside. Clumps of pale colored flowers that made a picture in their original setting of grass, trees and sky soon lose their freshness when carried off in bouquets. Most people know this. Yet toward the close of a spring Sunday every suburban road, every street car is strewn with wilted flowers tossed aside by tired holiday makers.

These dead flowers might have bloomed for another week to give pleasure to many more people. But that is not the real tragedy of wild flowers! The worst of the situation is that in so many cases the flower pickers are permanently despoiling the beauty of spring.

DOGWOOD DISAPPEARING

Take the dogwood, for instance. This is not a tiny plant to be easily pulled up by children. It is a tree, generally about the size of a fruit tree. Yet the dogwood is being more ruthlessly destroyed than any other native tree or plant. Botanists say that at the present rate of destructiveness the native American dogwood will be extinct within 25 years.

The Wild Flower Preservation society, which campaigns every year to save the American flowers, emphasizes one particular plant each spring. This year dogwood is given the spotlight because it is so rapidly disappearing.

The society is urging motorists and hikers to enjoy the dogwood on the tree, carry away a mental picture of it in all its freshness, and leave it for others to enjoy. If branches must be taken home, they should at any rate be cut clean with a sharp knife, so as to avoid injury to the tree.

PLANT IS PERISHABLE

That so much dogwood is destroyed is particularly unfortunate because the sprays are so perishable that the cut branches are of little use. Florists know how to pack them in moss, but the Sunday excursionists simply trail along in the hot sun with the branches over one arm, or else they lay them down in a jolting, dusty automobile. The white petals become brown and crushed, and once faded cannot be revived.

ARBUTUS IS SCARCE

The mayflower, or trailing arbutus, the state flower of Massachusetts, is like the dogwood, not far from extinction. This is one of the most beautiful of the American wild flowers, but the very people who exclaim over it with delight immediately set to destroy it. If they picked each individual flower carefully there might be nothing very apprehensible about the picking, but almost invariably the trailing stems, by which the plant spreads, are uprooted and carried off. The trailing arbutus has become so rare that nature lovers protect against its being bought or sold, and particularly against its being picked for wild flower bouquets.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Is there an organization of the tin can tourists? A. M.

A. "The Tin Can Tourists of the World" was established three years ago. It has no dues, no fees, and its officers receive no remuneration.

Q. How high did stamps in Germany rise? B. N. G.

A. The emergency stamps issued because of constantly depreciating value of the old paper mark ran in value as high as fifty billion marks. Renten-pfennig stamps which are displacing the provisionals run from 3 pennings to 100 pennings in value.

Q. What is the source of seeds from which young trees originate on logged-over lands? N. W.

A. In many cases the seeds are already in the ground or in the duff and litter under the trees and if not destroyed by fire following the logging, immediately germinate and produce young trees. In other cases seed trees are left sufficient in number to restock the area completely, but the process takes, as a rule, many years. For this reason it is highly important that method of brush disposal be adopted which destroys the duff on the least possible area.

Q. Should potatoes be cooked in salted or unsalted water? A. P. C.

A. Potatoes should be put on to cook in salted, boiling water. Salt added at the beginning of the cooking reduces the loss of mineral matter about one-third.

Q. What is a young swan called? A. M. P.

A. The name used for a young swan is cygnet.

Oil Industry Is Feast Or Famine

(From Time.)

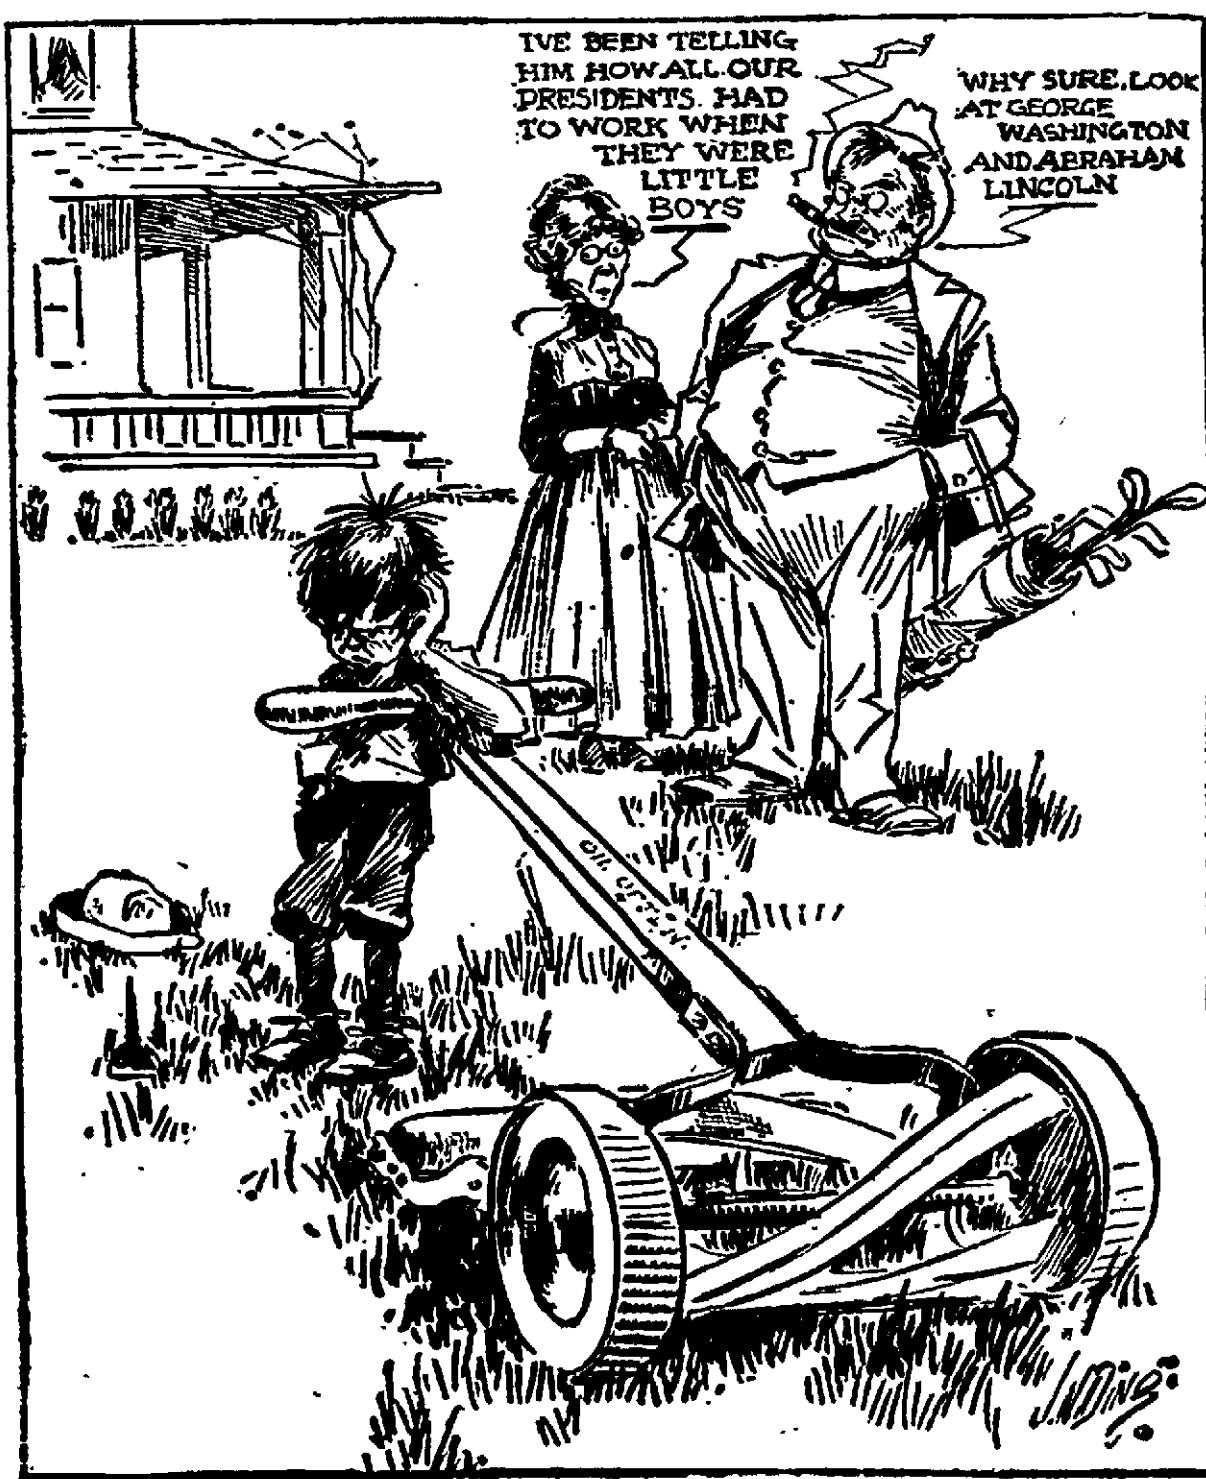

Few industries are as unstable as that which is concerned with the production, refining and distribution of petroleum. It is always either a feast or famine. Until only a few weeks ago the famine element seemed uppermost. Overproduction had created a great surplus of crude oil for the oil companies to carry, prices were declining precipitously, and disaster was frankly anticipated by the trade.

But meanwhile the consumption of crude oil and its by-products continued to increase. The huge production of automobiles demanded greater amounts of gasoline than ever. Large office buildings and hotels have adopted oil heating systems. Some railroads not only burn oil in their large locomotives, but are taking up running motor engines on their spur tracks for short haul traffic.

Unless new oil fields are opened, the large stocks now overhanging the market will be diminished, prices will rise and a period of prosperity in the oil industry will follow.

The regular cycle in the oil industry seems to be activity in oil shares as they rise in price, inflow of new capital into the oil business, advancing prices for crude and refined petroleum; overproduction. Just now we seem to be in stage one, with two and three beginning. Several years will probably be consumed before the oil is as flat and unprofitable as it was last fall.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE DEFINITELY ELIMINATED FROM THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE

140 Attend Annual H.S. Class Dinner

More than 140 seniors and members of the Appleton High school faculty were present at the annual senior banquet and dancing party at Appleton high school on Saturday. The banquet was served in the gymnasium, which was decorated with the class colors, purple and white. Sweet peas were the table decorations.

Toasts were given by Lee C. Rasey, Maurice Lewis, William Hornbeck and Leon C. High. Dancing followed the banquet. The party was a combination of banquet and annual party and will be the last party for the class of 1924 while it is still in school.

H.S. Sophs Hold Annual Dancing Party

Quilt Given As Prize At Card Party

Mrs. Walter Johnson won the quilt that was the prize at a bridge party given by a number of women of Appleton Women's club Saturday afternoon in the clubhouse. This was the only prize awarded.

Those who served on the committee include Mrs. A. H. Thuerer, chairman, Mrs. J. H. Marston, Mrs. Eimer Jennings, Mrs. W. R. Wheaton, Mrs. George Fannon, Mrs. R. H. Purdy, Mrs. James T. Woclan and Mrs. R. K. Wolter.

The quilt which was given as a prize was entirely handmade, the work of the women who were hostesses at the party and others. It was started many months ago and has been the occasion for many small groups getting together to work for Appleton Women's club. It is probably one of the most beautiful prizes ever offered at a local card party.

KAUKAUNA NEWS

Melvin Trams Telephone 829-J
Kaukauna RepresentativeABUSE OF MAIL PRIVILEGE LEADS
TO POSTAL ORDERPolicemen Refuse to Continue
Carrying Mail to Night
Trains

Kaukauna—The greatly abused privilege of local citizens mailing "open" mail on the night trains has suddenly been ended because those concerned have wrongly interpreted a letter received a few days ago by local depot agents from J. S. Rice, Fond du Lac division superintendent of the Northwestern road. Local business men and traveling salesmen who had important letters to get off before morning were in the habit of dropping them at Niesen's or in the lobby of Hotel Kaukauna where they were picked up by the night policemen and taken to the station at 11:44 when north bound train No. 101 is due here.

South bound mail is received on train No. 224 due here at 9:14 but the policemen do not as a rule meet that train due to the fact that there is still considerable activity about the streets at that time. The volume of night mail has constantly been growing until recently the night policemen carried an average of 235 letters every night. These were picked up in time to meet the 11:44 train going north when many of the letters were to go in the other direction.

As a result railway mail clerks had been forced to drop all their other work and sort the mail received here before they arrived at DePere where the south bound mail was transferred to No. 102 due here at 1:52 but which does not stop at Kaukauna.

The letter from the division superintendent can in no way be construed as an order to stop taking all mail at the train. The letter merely states that hereafter mail clerks will accept only mail which is addressed to cities located where the train is headed.

Even with that misunderstanding cleared up the volume of open night mail is not likely to increase again rapidly for members of the police department have declared they do not care to continue carrying mail to the train.

The boxes at Niesen's and in the hotel were beginning to be little more than cluttered mail receptacles for people who did not care to make the trip to the postoffice or to the street mail boxes. Even mail which was destined locally was found there. Season's greetings, birthday cards and unimportant mail which would not have caused a great calamity had it been deposited in the postoffice, one night was found frequently. Local mail was sent to DePere, transferred there to train No. 102, taken back through Kaukauna to points south and then returned here for delivery, causing an unnecessary amount of work and holding up the passage of regular mail.

Night mail will still be received at the trains. In fact mail clerks are compelled to take it, but it is probable that from now on those who have important communications will have to see to it themselves that their letters are taken to the station.

BOARD OF EDUCATION
MEETS MONDAY EVENING

Kaukauna—The regular meeting of the board of education will be held Monday evening in the superintendent's office in the new high school. New bids for the sale of school property on the north side will be opened and further plans regarding landscape gardening about the new building will be considered. $7,000 IS NEEDED TO PAY BILLS FOR STATE ADVERTISING

Flood of Replies from Wisconsin Publicity is Reaching Remarkable Figure

"I sincerely hope you will be in a position to send us some financial assistance which greatly will assist us in meeting our bill of a little over $7,000."

This paragraph in a letter received by the county committee from E. O. Barstow of Rhinelander, secretary of Wisconsin, The Land of Lakes, Inc., indicates why those who have been asked to give toward the state advertising campaign should not delay their subscriptions any longer.

Mr. Barstow declared that his office received 5,213 letters during the month of April as a result of the advertising for the state of Wisconsin that has appeared in various newspapers and magazines. Most of these came since Tuesday, April 22, on which day 1,018 letters arrived. The secretary has mailed out 3,047 Wisconsin booklets in response to the inquiries.

It is seen from this how effectively the people of other states are becoming interested in the industrial, agricultural, scenic and recreational advantages of Wisconsin. And how many will come here either to live or make a part time stay. Each inquiry who writes in response to the advertising is mailed a booklet telling all about Wisconsin and urging him to come here to share its wonderful qualities as a place of residence.

Each business man who gives money to the campaign directly or indirectly helps himself. The amount asked in Outagamie is $2,600. About $1,600 of this still remains to be raised. It is efficiently at a surprisingly low cost. Subscriptions therefore should be made at once by all community boosters and should be sent to the Land of Lakes committee, Appleton.

2 BULLETS LODGE IN COEDS' ROOM

Madison—Revolver shots fired at two fleeing Latin quarter prowlers by Patrolman H. Zwickey shortly after 3 p. m. Saturday, penetrated the side of the rooming house, 245 Langdon street, and lodged in a wall of a room in the house where two university coeds were sleeping.

The bullets tore down plastering over the girls and struck the wall three feet above their heads investigation revealed.

OCCUPIED BY OSHKOSH GIRLS
The room was occupied by Barbara G. Thompson, Oshkosh, freshman, a member of Delta Gamma sorority, and by Jane Martin, also of Oshkosh, a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Walking his beat on Langdon street, in the dark hours of the morning, Zwickey observed two men tampering with a touring car parked in the block. Approaching the car, the officer ordered both men to step out into the light where they could be seen.

Instead of obeying orders, the men fled.

The patrolman's order, "Stop or I'll shoot," only hastened the flight of the men. Carrying out his threat, the officer fired three shots over their heads.

Two of these bullets flying wild went into the side of the house.

Neither of the girls was aware of the affair until after 8 o'clock Saturday morning when they awakened to find their beds littered with plaster.

START BUILDING TRINITY CHURCH

Construction of the new Trinity English Lutheran church and parsonage at the corner of Allen and Kimball streets is proceeding rapidly. The foundation which is of concrete is almost finished and work will proceed at once on the church and residence proper.

Grange brothers, contractors, expect to have the church ready for dedication about Dec. 1. The parsonage will be ready for use sometime during the summer.

COST ACCOUNTING BOOK AVAILABLE TO FIRMS

Business men now may obtain from the chamber of commerce copies of the complete proceedings of the cost accounting section of the industrial conference held in the east March 25 and 26. These books are issued by the fabricated production department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and contain a great deal of data both of cost accounting and its relation to income tax matters. A nominal charge is asked for the book to cover the cost of preparation and printing.

START WORK SOON ON NEW GRADE SCHOOL AT MANAWA

Manawa—Work of clearing the ground around the old state graded school building, which was destroyed by fire last January, in preparation for construction of the new $50,000 school, has been completed. Although no contract has been let for construction of the building, work is expected to start about May 15. Smith, Reynolds & Brandt, Manitowish architects, have planned the new school.

Vermeulen's Restaurant now open day and night.

HOUSE MAY ELECT NEXT PRESIDENT

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

Washington—Election of the next president may be thrown into the House of Representatives.

Such a development, of course, is dependent upon the entrance of a third party of considerable strength. Balancing varying claims and admissions of Republicans, Democrats and the Progressives interested in a third party, one obtains this result:

Total certain Republican electoral vote, 11; certain Democratic, 178; Progressive, 35, and doubtful, 227.

While these totals charted on the above map, seem to give the Democrats the best of the showing, it must be remembered that a third party ticket would disorganize the Republican party more than it would the Democratic.

Nothing but a third party would make Iowa or Pennsylvania doubtful.

California might have gone into the doubtful column if Hiram Johnson headed a third party movement, but it is stands that state safely can be placed in the G. O. P. lineup.

The Democrats are allowed the "Solid South".

Senator Reed has been a disturbing factor in Missouri but after the nomination there's no reason to believe he'll be otherwise than "regular."

So much for the big parties! Minnesota, the Dakotas and Wisconsin would be Progressive.

As to the "doubtful column": As between Republicans and Democrats in Arizona a state election has hinged on as few as 30 votes. There ought to be enough Progressives to leave the state in doubt.

The Progressive shadow hangs over Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Michigan and Nebraska which otherwise would go Republican. Nobody can tell what effect a third ticket would have in any of them. Iowa and Michigan, in particular, might even give Progressive majorities.

Kansas, too, is a notoriously peculiar state, once strongly given to Populism.

Pennsylvania is doubtful by a narrow margin. Most likely it will be Republican. Still, it went Democratic when Roosevelt was third party candidate. The Pinchot influence makes it further doubtful.

Indiana, always is more or less doubtful, and Hamilton's nomination probably would tilt the balance toward the Democrats.

Montana looks Democratic, but might go Progressive.

Delaware, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming generally are classed as doubtful.

With all this uncertainty, it would seem that three tickets might, by no stretch of the imagination, make it impossible for any single candidate to get the required "majority" over all electoral votes, leaving the House of Representatives to choose the next president.

WOMAN WHO FELL OFF BUS AWARDED $2,098

Mrs. Jane S. Perry of Neenah, who was injured when she fell from the top of a trolley bus at Appleton, August 10, 1923, was awarded $2,098.45 damages by an Oshkosh jury Wednesday. She asked $10,000 in the complaint she filed in the suit.

In a special verdict the jury did not place the blame on either party, declaring that the bus driver stopped at a reasonably safe place and that the plaintiff exercised care in alighting from the bus.

No compensation was allowed for permanent injuries which the plaintiff contended she had sustained as a result of the accident.

Judgment on the verdict has not been ordered thus far by the court.

CHOICEST ANIMALS OF HERDS WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Holstein Breeders Consign 50 Purebred Sires and Cows to Sale

By W. F. WINSEY
The third annual consignment sale of the Outagamie County Holstein Breeders' association will be held on Tuesday, beginning at 10:30 morning in the sales pavilion of Dr. Wm. Madison, Washington st.

Fifty purebred animals will be consigned to the sale. Four bulls ranging from six months to one year and 44 females, from one year to seven, by such well known breeders as Otto Moesholder, John Faltzer, Nick Faltzer, Faltzer Bros., W. H. Flannan, Geo. I. Sasman, Geo. R. Schaefer, W. C. Schroeder, Walter Steffensen, Robert C. Tiedt, Walter H. Wiechert, Geo. Wendt & Sons and Edward Ziegler, will be offered for sale.

The animals to be disposed of are among the best to be found in the herds represented at the sale. The reason that the better animals are offered exclusively from each herd is now recognized by breeders that the reputation of the herds is affected by the grade of animals sold at public sale and that the price of home sales in a large measure is fixed by auction or public sale prices.

MOST IMPORTANT SALE
This change from offering only surplus animals regardless of breeding or production record dams, to offering of only selected animals of the herd, makes the Holstein sale on Tuesday the most important ever held by the Holstein-breeders of Outagamie-co.

For instance, included in the sale list of bulls is one animal, sired by a double grandson, Sir Peterette Ormsby Mercedes 37th, whose two nearest dams have a production record of 31 pounds of butter in seven days. This bull is one of the finest individuals ever offered for sale in this part of the country.

Another bull on the list is sired by Good Hope Sir Forbes whose dam in seven days produced 35.87 pounds of butter. This dam was the Wisconsin champion of 1922.

Included in the number of females offered for sale are two daughters of a grand daughter of Appleton Fair 2nd whose production record in seven days was 35.87 pounds of butter.

Also on the list remarkable for the high quality of animals mentioned, are the daughters of Dean Bees Burke Ormsby whose dam has two seven day records of 35 pounds of butter and a yearly record of 1,180 pounds of butter. This great butter producer was the champion of Wisconsin for two years.

L. I. Oldham, state secretary of the Holstein association, and federal crop reporter, Paul O. Nyhus, have promised to attend the sale and sell Murray, secretary of Wisconsin Live-stock Breeders' association will act as pedigree man. Edward O. Mueller will be clerk of sales and J. H. Denn hardt is to be auctioneer.

SHEBOYGAN PREPARES FOR STATE K. C. CONVENTION

Arrangements for the twenty-third annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus, which is to be held in Sheboygan May 20 and 21, are nearing completion.

Principal speakers on the program will be Judge Marcus Kinnear, Chicago, and Martin H. Carmody, Detroit, supreme knight of Grand Rapids, Mich. It is expected that 200 delegates and visitors will be in the city for the convention. They will be entertained with luncheons, a banquet on the evening of May 20 at the Association of Commerce and a dance on the evening of May 21.

Convention headquarters will be at Foeste hotel, while the business sessions will be held in the K. of C. club-house.

John Morgan, grand knight of Appleton council, and George T. Prim, past grand knight, have been elected as delegates from the local council to the state meeting.

Teachers to Elect
The annual meeting of Appleton Teachers association will take place at Appleton high school at 4:10 Tuesday afternoon. The election of officers and the final report of the year's business will be made.

GLIMPSES OF EVERYDAY LIFE AT NATION'S CAPITAL

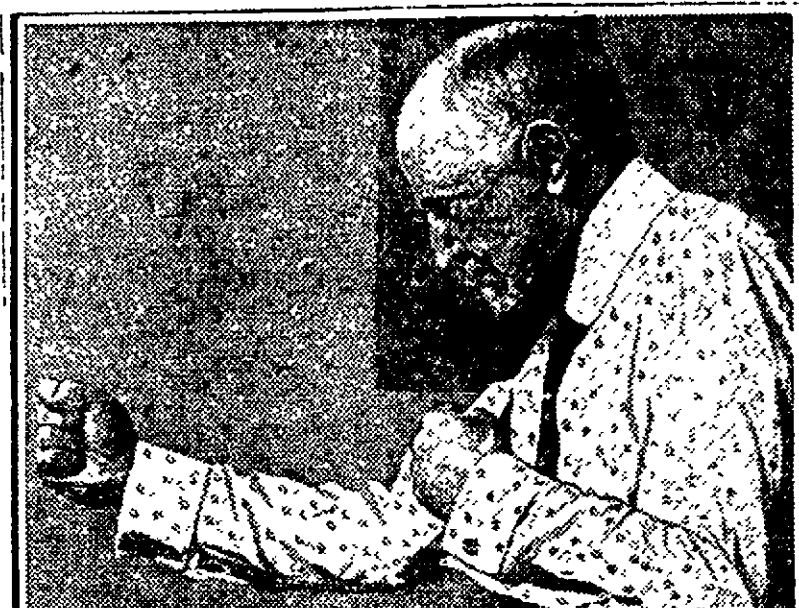

A cabinet member's wife doing her own housework—and washing and ironing, too! It certainly is a setback to Washington's society folk. But Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, wife of the new secretary of navy, is doing just these very things. At your left you see her ironing a cake, and at the right hanging out the family laundry.

Congressman Percy E. Quinn seldom visits the House restaurant. He always takes along his lunch from home. The little grip he carries it in looks all the world like a typewriter case. The congressman explains he prefers home cooking to even the best of restaurant fare.

What with the hectic sessions about the House and Senate these days, it is small wonder that the officeholders are taking to boxing and athletics. Bernarr McFadden, famed physical culturist, is shown giving a few lessons to Senators Arthur Capper, C. C. Dill, Representative McFadden, Senator Magnus Johnson and Representative John M. Nelson.

Frederick Huntington Gillette, speaker of the House of Representatives, is a great fight fan. And in his younger days he was pretty good with his own "dukes." He's still able to take care of himself, even though he is 73. But the Massachusetts congressman doesn't think he could stick out quite as many rounds as he used to.

Looks like a war council. But it isn't. It is a peace meeting. These Indians form the reception committee for the Alpha Phi fraternity's convention in Glacier National Park this June. And they are only discussing plans for receiving delegates who are coming from all parts of the United States.

Dr. W. K. Gregory, after years of research and study, is exhibiting at the Museum of Natural History fragments of jawbones of the Dryopithecus of Richmond, Calif., is demonstrating it. His master seconds with a cow-bone fragments, found after millions of years, have been found to resemble those of Australian negro tribes.

Here is the real horse laugh. Joe, trick horse of "Cowboy Dick" Melvick of Richmond, Calif., is demonstrating it. His master seconds with a cow-boy "squin grin."

Representative William David Upshaw of Georgia tells you himself he often has been called the "reincarnation of the spirit which burned witches." He is outspokenly proud of this. Upshaw is a lifelong cripple, though anything but a helpless one.

Violet and Daisy Hilton of San Antonio, Tex., never will be parted. They are Siamese twins. Surgeons say it is impossible to attempt to separate them through an operation. Here they are occupying the same chair. One is sewing while the other's reading.

San Francisco judges are permitting no delays in traffic cases. So that justice may be expedited, accident victims are even brought into court on stretchers to testify against motorists accused of running them down. Here is one being carried into the Hall of Justice.

When you're taking the "prince of walls" on a long continental voyage there's nothing like convenience. Hence the "suitcase crib," utilized by Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Dr. Lewis is an obstetrician of Los Angeles.

FERBER AND GREY
BOOKS IN DEMAND
AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Wiggins' Autobiography Also Has Many Readers in Appleton

Edna Ferber's "So Big" and "The Call of the Canyon" by Zane Grey are the books leading in popularity at Appleton Public Library. Miss Ferber's stories are always popular whether old or new and if a book is written by Zane Grey it needs no other endorsement. Both these books have been much in demand for a long period.

Nathaniel Sumner Lincoln's detective story, "The Tenthenth Letter," is another book that is much sought after, for she is another author whose name is the only endorsement that a book needs. "The Thirteenth Letter" is one of the most baffling of her books and keeps the reader in suspense until the final chapter.

The autobiography of Kate Wiggin, "My Garden of Memory," has been much in demand by those who were delighted with her stories. It was written just before her death and has all the charm of her personality, all the humor, pathos, vividness and interest that have given her books a commanding place in American literature. Mrs. Wiggin has described in her own inimitable way her childhood days by the Saco river, her girlhood in California and her rapid rise from obscurity to world-wide fame.

TRAVEL BOOKS POPULAR

Travel books are still attracting many people and not the least of these is "Travels in Alaska" by John Muir, the naturalist. This is the reason for wildflowers and in the children's department they have been asking for "Book of Flowers for Children" by Burgess and "Book of Wild Flowers for Young People" by F. S. Mathews. Bird books, and especially the one, "Birds Worth Knowing" by Nellie Blanchard, are still in demand in this department. Arthur Stringer's new book, "Empty Hands," has been circulated widely. The story tells of a man and woman lost in the Canadian wilderness, empty handed and stripped of conveniences of civilization. The smack of the outdoors and the mastery of forest lore, as the fight is made against the demands of nature, give an added interest to that already aroused by the human drama.

BUILDING PERMITS
CHEER LUMBERMEN

Dealers Believe New Record for Construction Will Be Established

Demand for lumber, by the building industry and manufacturing consumers, continues to be restricted by the backwardness of spring weather. The record of building permits, however, shows the fundamental strength of the market, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. During the first three months of 1924 there were more permits taken out, and for a larger amount, than for the corresponding first quarter of any previous year in the history of the United States.

The large producing regions show no excess of production, so that absence of accumulated stocks is a factor in the market's strength. For the first three months of 1924, 140 identical Southern Pine Association mills showed shipments amounting to 58.69 per cent of production; West Coast Lumbermen's Association mill shipments of 1.619 million feet for the first sixteen weeks of the year showed a comfortable excess over the production of 1.593 million feet. Total national loadings of forest products for the week ended April 12 amounted to 76,219 cars, 704 cars under the total for the week ended April 5—the decrease was slight, amounting to only about 1 per cent. Orders booked during the week ended April 12 by all the 383 mills reporting to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association were 87 per cent of actual production; bookings by Southern Pine Association mills were 93 per cent, and by West Coast Lumbermen's Association mills, 96 per cent, of output.

Recently there have been scattered reports of concessions in prices, but undoubtedly these do not indicate a general weakening in the market. When progress in building was retarded by bad weather, retail yards, very fully stocked, ceased buying, and cars in transit had to find sale at a sacrifice; transits now are fewer. Southern pine mills have found in exports an offset to slow domestic demand; March overseas shipments showed an increase of 46.2 per cent over those of February. West Coast mills are meeting the present toll by curtailment, for they take the stand that production at lower prices is impossible. Building permits Saturday totaled $1,047,729 for 1924. Only two were issued, one to Philomena Brilliard, 1119 Lorain-st., and the other to William Horneke, 1658 Parkhurst-st. Both were for garages.

40 WRITE EXAMS FOR RAILWAY MAIL JOBS

A United States civil service examination for railway postal clerks was held at Lincoln school building Saturday. It was conducted by Herman Franck, secretary of the local civil service board. The morning class consisted of 25 applicants and 15 wrote in the afternoon.

It's The Upkeep, Not The Original Cost, That Makes
Golf An Expensive Game

The man who is bitten by the golf bug can "travel in three styles, Ford, Buick or Cadillac," according to sporting goods dealers here, most men prefer to travel in "Buick" style. To travel "Ford" style means that the golfer has bags and club of the most ordinary type, the whole set not amounting to over $10; to be in a class with the "Bulck" is an indication of more wealth because it means a more elaborate outfit; to be classed with the "Cadillac" calls for little explanation, for it means that this type of golfer has everything that is useful in the game.

This is the time of year when men ache to be outside chasing a ball over the links and so it is no wonder that the sport shops have golf equipment attractively displayed. Golf is a fairly expensive sport, and like the automobile, its not the original cost but the upkeep.

WIDE PRICE RANGE
Canvas bags may be bought as low as 90 cents, while the most expensive leather bags sell at $20 and up. The clubs are priced at $2.25 up, depending upon the club and its elaborateness. It's necessary to have more than one club when playing, as anyone who's had the slightest experience will know, so unless you travel in "Ford" style an outfit is apt to be quite expensive. Beginner's balls are priced at 25 cents, while the more expensive balls cost $1.

One of the latest aids to beginners is the parachute ball. The ordinary golf ball has a tiny parachute attached to it so that when it is lifted from the ground by the club and carried through the air it will not go far and thus can be found easily. Ready-made tees of wood are new also. Eighteen of these cost 25 cents. A man can outfit himself for $15 and not be ashamed of his set, according to Mr. Elias, but if he wishes to have a more elaborate set he can buy one for $18, $20 and up past $35 or $40. A golf outfit is like an automobile in many respects, for there are as many accessories for the sets as there are "extras" for an automobile. To leave out the clothes that many deem necessary to play the game properly would be to leave out one of the most important features. Few of the men's furnishing stores have in their new supply of sport togs, but it is conceded that knickers will be preferred, especially those of cotton or white linen. Some men prefer to buy a complete outfit, coat, vest, knickers and trousers. Often the knickers will be plaid while the other part of the suit will be of the predominating color or in the plaid. A four piece suit will cost between $40 and $50, knickers of khaki or white duck will cost about $3, white linen knickers cost between $6 and $7.50 and the more expensive knickers of wool or tweed are priced between $15 and $17.

Golf hose are the pride of many enthusiasts. Men who scoff at women for buying expensive silk hose have nothing to say, for golf hose cost from $2 to $10 and it is seldom you see a golfer in knickers who does not wear bright-colored socks.

To outfit a golfer with clothes and equipment in "Buick" style, costs about $68. This includes a $20 golf set, a $35 suit, golf shirt at $4, socks at $4 and shoes at $5.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Robert Doersch has sold his 80 acre farm in the town of Osborne to William Wendt for a consideration of $11,000.
George F. Wolf has sold a lot in the Third ward to Henry Bruehl, and Louis J. Smith sold one in the Fifth ward to Henry A. Sumnicht.

C. C. WILL PUSH
CITIES CONTEST

Untold Value Seen in Publicity
if Appleton Proves Winner of Race

Preparation will be resumed for the better cities contest of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work as soon as the chamber of commerce has completed organization of the community welfare committee, of which Louis Bounin continues as chairman.

It still is the desire of the chamber to have the other civic organizations of Appleton join in the contest and provide a leader, but if this is not done, the chamber of commerce will undertake the work itself because of the general good that will be done to the city. Success in the contest will mean the completion of many of the projects the chamber and other organizations have proposed or started.

Appleton will be able to compete for two prizes by entering the state contest. It will work for $1,000 offered by the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work and for first honors in the United States in the inter chamber fire waste contest.

Winning of these contests, the chamber believes, will give Appleton more widespread and effective publicity than could be accomplished in any other way. Many will be attracted here as a place of residence as a result, because people will know the winner of the better cities contest must be a desirable place to live in.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

A Welcome Member of the Family

A MOTOR car is never more appreciated than in the springtime. Its convenience and enjoyment are shared by all the family—and by speeding up the day's work, it provides more time for recreation.

A Ford Touring Car becomes a welcome member of the family. It provides every motor car essential at the lowest price for which a five passenger car has ever sold—a price only made possible by complete manufacture, in tremendous volume, in the largest and most economically operated plants in the automobile industry.

By controlling every step in manufacture, from the mining of the ore to delivery of the finished car, Ford eliminates waste and reduces vital costs to a minimum. One profit is made—hundreds are saved.

This efficiency of manufacture is accurately reflected in the quality and price of the Ford Touring car.

Give More Thought To Music

Quotations

"I hope this year's observance of Music Week may mark another milestone on the way to the widest interest in, and appreciation of, the best in music culture." —Calvin Coolidge.

"We cannot have too much music; we need it—the world needs it—probably more than ever before, and I am the friend of every effort to give it its rightful place in our national life." —Warren G. Harding.

"Music is almost all we have of heaven on earth." —Addison.

"There is a 'reach' to music which the other arts have not; it seems to 'get' to you in an exhausted odd and quiet and refreshes where a book or a picture is not so sure." —Charles M. Schwab

"I see America go singing to her destiny." —Walt Whitman.

SO BIG

By Edna Ferber

She had been aware of the two pig-tailed heads appearing and vanishing. Maartje was shooting her into this room. Evidently her hostess was die-tressed because the teacher's formal entrance had not been made by way of parlour. Instead, of kitchen. She followed Maartje Pool into the front room. Behind the stove, glittering, were two yellow-haired little girls, Geertje and Jozina, of course. Selina went over to them, smiling. "Which is Geertje?" she asked. "And which Jozina?" But at this the titters became squeals. They retired behind the round black bulwark of the wood-burned, overcoat. There was no fire in this shining ebony structure, though the evening was sharp. Above the stove a length of pipe, glittering with polish as was the stove itself, crossed the width of the room and vanished through a queer little perforated grating in the ceiling. Selina's quick glance encompassed the room. In the window were a few hardy plants in pots on a green-painted wooden rack. There were geraniums, blossoming; a cactus with its thick slabs of petals like slices of gangrenous ham set up for beauty in a parlour; a plant called Jacob's ladder, on a spinning trellis. The bonny confolding of the green-painted wooden stand was turned toward the room. The flowers blantly faced the dark square of the window. There was a sofa with a wrinkled calico cover; three rocking chairs; some stark cravens of incredibly hard-featured Dutch ancients on the wall. It was all neat, stiff, unlovely. But Selina had known too many years of boarding-house ugliness to be offended at this.

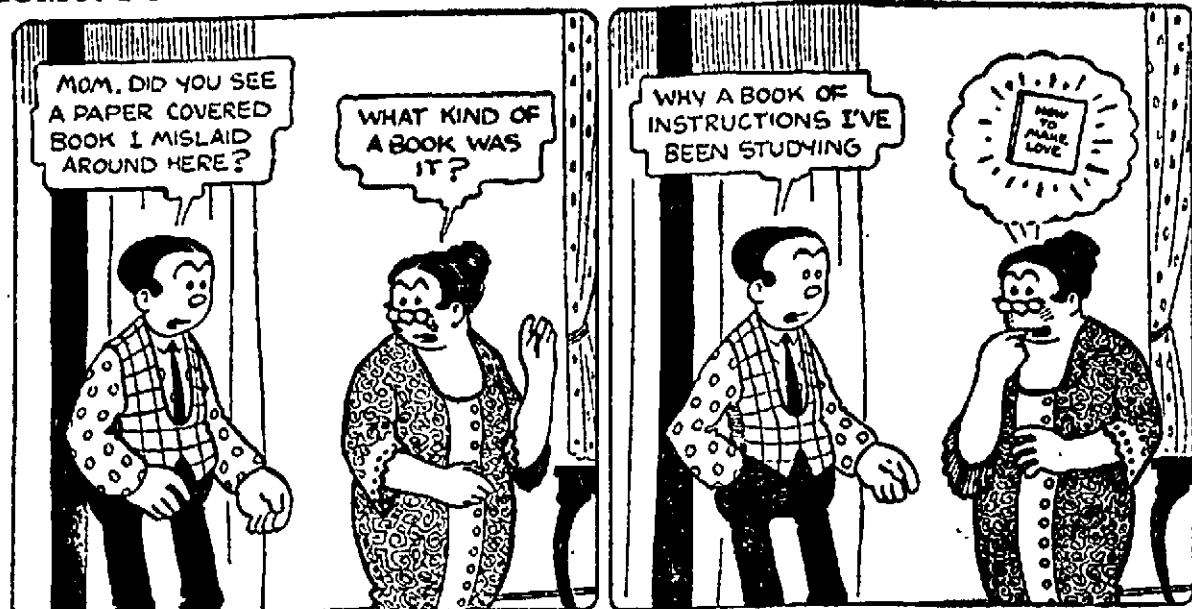

Maartje had lighted a small glass-bowled lamp. The chimney of the sparkled as had the window panes. A steep, uncarpeted staircase, enclosed, led off the sitting room. Up this Maartje Pool, talking, led the way to Selina's bedroom. Selina was to learn that the farm woman, often inarticulate through lack of companionship, becomes a torrent of talk when opportunity presents itself. They made quite a little procession. First, Mrs. Pool, with the lamp; then Selina, with the satchel; then, tap-tap, tap-tap, Jozina and Geertje, their heavy-hobnailed shoes creating a great clatter on the wooden stairs, though they were trying to be quiet. They were trying to be quiet in an effort to make themselves unheard by their mother. There evidently had been an arrangement on the subject of their invisibility. The procession moved to the accompaniment of Maartje's. "Now you stay downstairs, don't I tell you!" There was in her tone a warning, a menace. The two little girls would hang back a moment, only to come tap-tapping on again, their eager eyes at once fearful and mischievous.

A narrow, dim, close-smelling hallway, uncarpeted. At the end of it a door opened into the room that was to be Selina's. As the child struck her to the marrow three objects caught her eye. The bed, a huge and not unhandsome walnut mausoleum, reared its sombre height almost to the room's top. Indeed, its apex of scraps did actually seem to achieve a meeting with the whitewashed ceiling. The mattress of straw and corn-husks was unworthy of this edifice, but over it Mrs. Pool had mercifully placed a feather bed, stuffed and quilted, so that Selina lay soft and warm through the winter. Along one wall stood a low chest of drawers, brown as to appear black. The front panel of this was curiously carved. Selina stooped over it and for the second time that day said: "How beautiful!" then looked quickly around at Maartje Pool as though fearful of finding her laughing as Maartje Pool had laughed. But Mrs. Pool's face reflected the glow in her own. She came over to Selina and stooped with her over the chest, holding the lamp so that its yellow flame lighted up the scrolls and trophies of the carved surface. With one discolored forefinger she traced the bold flourishes on the panel. "See! How it makes out letters!"

FAMOUS OLD BANK IN LONDON BOUGHT BY LARGER CONCERN

Royal Bank of Scotland Absorbs Ancient, Aristocratic Institution

By Associated Press
London—Drummond's Bank, the most aristocratic private bank, declared by legend to have lent money to the pretender in 1745 and reputed to handle the accounts of half the peers of Great Britain, has been absorbed by the Royal Bank of Scotland, a comparatively new bank in the city's financial circle.

The famous old bank building with its Jacobite appearance and traditions which hides under the splendor of the new Admiralty Arch will remain as the oldest banking house still functioning in London. The partners of the bank, all members of the Drummond family, will remain with the bank which will be a branch of the larger institution.

Drummond's has always been regarded as the "old hand" of English banks and it was 50 years ago that it published a statement of its liabilities and assets. The capital of the bank was $2,000,000 and the deposits $18,376,550. The Bank of Scotland has a capital of $10,000,000 with deposits of $189,402,590.

Only two of the many famous old private banks of London, that were often known to finance a war or come to the aid of the throne in times of financial distress, remain in their original status. The oldest, Child and Company of Fleet Street was founded in 1599 and Hoare and Company was founded in 1673.
